Under the direction of the Deputy Commissioner & Special Counsel, the incumbent is responsible for independently researching, calculating and producing Economic Impact Analyses for Department rulemaking projections (regulations). This work entails forecasting the impact particular regulations have on California jobs, businesses, and investments, as well as identifying any affect the regulations have on innovation, and benefits to the health, safety, and welfare of California residents, worker safety, and the state's environment and quality of life. The incumbent may also conduct complex studies and research on special projects and Commissioner initiatives, and advise departmental staff on findings related to the assigned area of research.

DESIRABLE QUALIFICATIONS:

- Strong background and relevant experience in conducting complex studies
- Knowledge of statistical and other methods used in the analysis and projection of data
- Ability to communicate effectively to individuals and groups
- Ability to analyze information and make recommendations
- Plan and carry out research projects
- Prepare and present reports
- Strong analytical and inter-personal skills
- Ability to meet deadlines and perform well under pressure

WHO MAY APPLY:

Applications will be accepted from current State employees at the Research Program Specialist I level, those within transfer range, or individuals who have list eligibility. All applications will be reviewed; however, only the most qualified candidates will be interviewed. Applicants currently on SROA lists or employed by a surplus department are encouraged to apply. All applicants must clearly indicate the basis of their eligibility (i.e. SROA, surplus, reemployment, reinstatement, transfer, or list eligibility) on the state application.
